

"IN AN ALTERNATE UNIVERSE (THE MONICA & HILLARY STORY)"

By Tom David Barna

BILL CLINTON 81, Former U.S. President and currently First Gentleman to President Hillary Clinton.

Speaking to Hillary in the Oval Office.

BILL

Hillary? Hillary? For chrissakes, can you give me one minute of your precious time? Your private little war with Russia can wait, I have something I need to tell you. (Beat.) Ever since we met the Pope and let me tell you, he had a profound impact on me, I've become a changed man. I love that little plastic statue thing he gave us. Anyway, with Monica stepping back in to our lives...I find myself needing to be a bit more introspective and for the first time come to grips with the consequences of my past actions. This might surprise you, Hillary but I haven't always made the best decisions. There was that Whitewater thing, the cigars, those cute little berets but hell no need to list everything I just know it's time for me to make some personal changes...before it's too late. Now, before you start rolling those blood shot eyes of yours and begin another round of cackling, imagine God is in the room, right here...now...in the Oval Office and He suddenly looks you straight in the eye and...